

Sub-Saharan Africa and the Sustainable Development Goals: perspectives, implementation and pressing issues

On the 23rd of April 2021, the Center for African Studies of the University of Porto will host a virtual conference to explore the role of African Studies in achieving Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

This conference aims to debate the African Studies contribution to the SDGs and how an area study, due to its multidisciplinary nature, can develop research to potentially address the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development.

This call invites researchers who want to contribute to the analysis of, and debates on the SDGs in the African Continent to submit their abstracts.

Submissions by young researchers or members from under-represented communities are particularly welcome.

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES

Paper with a maximum of 300 words (references are not required but must be included in the word count if used). Please note that these will undergo blind review, so we ask that you do not identify authors in the main text of the abstract.

Avoid an overly long title for your abstract and ensure that the context of your abstract is sufficiently clear, e.g. country(ies) of focus, SDG addressed, type or period of research etc.

Indicate, if appropriate, whether the abstract is based on ongoing or completed research.

Use clear and concise language. The official language of the conference is English.

Abstract's deadline is of Thursday 8th April 2021, 23:59 (GMT) via the following email:
